

Project Manager (m/f/d)

As an external project manager for well-known companies, you run complex, demanding projects or programs at the crossroads of IT and business. Your role goes far beyond being a consultant to your clients, as you take real responsibility for delivering results. Your success is defined by your customers achieving the desired value-adding process and business changes.

Your responsibilities include:

- Creation of commercial offers including the definition of project goal and scope
- Set-up of an effective requirements management process
- Project management
 - Establishing a management model, project plan, organization, and measurable results
 - Leading the project team (directly or in collaboration with the client's project lead)
 - Initiating all corrective measures to ensure the project success
 - Involvement and enablement of all affected business departments, to guarantee a successful transition to the new processes
- As "face to the customer", regular project communication with the client's management team
- Active role in the transfer and sharing of knowledge within the Consec team

Your business background and set of competencies:

- Strong leadership skills and many years of experience in managing large projects as a professional consultant or senior manager in IT-, process or business transformations
- Profound knowledge of project management methodologies, i.e. conventional (e.g. PMP, IPMA) and/or agile (e.g. SCRUM, LESS) ones
- Preferably corporate experience in the automotive, aerospace, or finance industry
- Personal integrity as well as sense of responsibility and customer orientation
- Natural authority and determination in achieving goals
- Intuitiveness for emotions and resistance to change within the organisation
- Excellent interpersonal and communication skills, to create a trustworthy relationship with our customers
- Fluent in both English and German

Our offer:

- Opportunity and autonomy to make a difference in challenging projects for respected customers
- Intensive knowledge sharing within our internal team of experts
- The spirit of a company that sets a benchmark in its field of expertise and that encourages you to help shape its value proposition
- Strong teamwork based on appreciation and respect, also offering flexible working hours
- An attractive salary that matches your experience and responsibilities

Did we spark your interest? We are looking forward to receiving your application. Please contact Martina Ludwig, via phone +49 89 4141 743 19 or e-mail martina.ludwig@consec.de